

White tea – a rare treat

Twinings has been the number one name on tea expert's lips for more than 300 years, constantly setting the trend. Twinings White Tea is certain to be selected by all tea lovers and connoisseurs. White tea is made from only the unopened white bud and accompanying leaves of the tea bush. This top quality product is grown and made in the Fujian province of China. It has a refreshing aroma and delicate velvety smooth flavour. Twinings White Tea is naturally rich in antioxidants, which make the tea an important part of a healthy lifestyle. Tea growers pluck the two leaves and bud once a year during Spring, after which the tea is gently dried before being dried in the shade and finished off in a drier. This drying process is a vital aspect of the flavour development and explains the delicate refined taste and silvery appearance of Twinings White Tea. The amount of time the tea is left to steep as well as whether the tea should be taken with milk and sugar rests with the individual tea drinker.

Whatever your choice, you will definitely delight in this rare commodity!
